To ensure an optimal experience for yourself and others:

Access to the platform

- An account including personally identifiable information is required to access this platform
- For optimal use of the platform, we recommend that you preferably use a computer, as the layout and the services may be altered on a smartphone or a tablet.
- The organizers cannot be held responsible for any fault in your Internet connection.
- The administrators of the platform will set up a Q&A and a help desk during sessions to facilitate your navigation on the platform.

Interactivity and exchanges

Some platforms feature a chat/commenting system where users can discuss with a moderator during a session, or exchange information between peers.

- Participants are not allowed to use the chat/commenting system to advertise products and/or services
- Spam is not tolerated
- Courtesy and respect are de rigueur (abusive and inappropriate language are subject to exclusion)
- Should you exchange case information, please ensure that all cases are anonymous, and that no identifying information about the patient (or any person concerned) is ever mentioned.
- Participants are responsible for their comments published on the platform
- Some platforms offer the option to activate a “do not disturb” status.

The LINNC Live Talks 2021 platform is administered by a team of LINNC Live Talks 2021 staff members. Community administrators reserve the right to exclude members in case of non-compliance or inappropriate behaviour.

Relations with industry partners

Some platforms offer spaces dedicated to industry partners, in which they can promote their products and services, disseminate information of medical, scientific nature, or more broadly, information related to their professional field.

- Information is disseminated on these spaces under the responsibility of each partner
- The partner may need to collect additional information, including personal data, via a questionnaire, under his own responsibility.

Personally Identifiable Information and sharing of data with third parties

Please note that your Personally Identifiable Information (first name, last name, profession, place of work) is by design open to others using the platform to ensure an optimal networking experience.

Please note that in certain very limited cases, third parties will be able to access specific data about your use of the platform based on an authorisation policy. This applies exclusively to industry partners participating in the event where, for example, you visit a booth in the virtual exhibition or industry sponsored pages, or you view an industry sponsored session.
